

FISTS should no more be able to decide licensing requirements than IOTA members, field day enthusiasts, county hunters, testers or any other subgroup within the amateur community. Morse code has no more relevance than any other mode and testing should be unbiased enough to reflect that. Element 1 should be dropped. No other changes need be made.